

SALES CONTINUE IN PAVILLION AT ADVERTISED DATE

Stock Sales Are Not Stopped—Officers Will Fight.

Officials of the Dixon Sales Pavilion and local business men are in action to prevent the interruption or removal from Dixon of the stock sales institution, and an official of the sales pavilion company stated to The Telegraph this morning that there has been no cancellation of dates of sales that have been advertised and that so far as is known the sales will be held.

As was published in last evening's Telegraph, the city authorities have notified the officers of the sales pavilion that complaints have been made by residents near the pavilion, and the discontinuance of the holding of sales in the Dementown place has been requested, but the stock brokers interested in the pavilion maintain that their institution cannot be described as a nuisance and if its discontinuance is insisted upon there is prospect of a long drawn out legal battle.

Have Petition.
The officers of the pavilion have circulated a petition among Dixon business men asking the complainant against the pavilion to withdraw the complaint lodged with the city and the petition is said to have received almost unanimous support by local businessmen, who declare the sales pavilion to be a valuable asset to Dixon.

Improving Building.
The Dementown building is undergoing extensive improvements and the new additions and equipment are rapidly approaching completion. There has been no interruption of this work.

Sales Are Continuing.
The Phillips Brothers sale which was advertised for today was held as scheduled and there has been no cancellation of other sales.

ALSACE REVOLT PLOT FINANCED BY GERMAN CASH

Arch Conspirator Tells Whole Story of German Intrigue.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Strasbourg, Oct. 22.—The conspiracy for a revolt in Alsace-Lorraine, having for its object the establishment of an autonomous republic here, is assuming greater proportions than at first anticipated. Koessler, the man alleged to be the Arch conspirator and who has been placed under arrest, has, according to military authorities, made a confession, admitting that he has received 500,000 francs from Germany since last May. The funds were sent to him from Baden, Baden, it is said.

Acting as intermediary between the Berlin foreign office and the conspirators here, according to Koessler's revelations to the police, was Herr von Gruenelius, a relative of former Imperial Chancellor Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg. According to the military authorities, Koessler had admitted having introduced Herr von Gruenelius to Deputy Jean Lonnet last summer while the latter was spending a few weeks' vacation near Strasbourg. He says the two had a long conference.

M. Longuet, in an open letter to the Matin, admits meeting Herr von Gruenelius, but asserts it was a social visit and that no politics was discussed. He adds that the charge is a "political maneuver on the part of his enemies on the eve of elections."

Literature seized at the home of Koessler bore the caption "The Neutral Republic of Alsace-Lorraine" and called upon the population of the two provinces to separate from France as well as Germany.

PUBLIC SHOULD BUY FRESH HAM

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 23.—If the public realized the economical advantages of broadening the demand for fresh pork so as to include fresh unsmoked hams as a substitute for pork loins, the difference would be a factor in reducing the cost of food, according to announcement made today by the United States Bureau of Markets.

Fresh pork hams are offered wholesale at 23 cents to 24 cents a pound, and are meeting with slow sale, whereas pork loins are selling freely at 32 to 35 cents.

The wide difference in prices between fresh loins and other fresh pork cuts is due to the continued demand from retail dealers for loins, while most other cuts, especially fresh hams are neglected, the bureau says.

WATER METER CASE COMING UP MONDAY

The appeal of the City of Dixon from the order of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission authorizing the Dixon Water Co. to install meters throughout this city and to make charges for such installation, will be taken up in the Circuit Court of Sangamon County Monday morning at 9 o'clock, according to notice received by City Attorney R. H. Scott from Attorney General Brundage this morning. A meeting of the city officials will be held at the city hall this evening to determine what action the city shall take in presenting its case to the Sangamon county court.

ILLINOIS LABOR URGES FIGHT TO FINISH AT ONCE

Peoria Convention Addresses Gompers with Resolution.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., Oct. 23.—Following the withdrawal of the labor group from the industrial conference at Washington, the Illinois Federation of Labor, in convention here this morning, authorized the sending of a message to Samuel Gompers, president, president of the American Federation of Labor and to members of the executive council, urging the immediate issuance of a call for a special convention of the American Federation of Labor in Washington.

The message urges that the official representatives of the railway brotherhoods be invited to participate, the object of the meeting to be the "perfecting of an offensive and defensive alliance of the international unions of the United States and Canada and the railway brotherhoods more effectively to fight out the life and death struggle of the workers now in progress and impending."

The message assails the "steel trust" for methods used in the present strike and says: "Too long has labor permitted these tyrants to keep the workers on the defensive."

The message also asks that included in the call as one of the objects of the proposed meeting be "the levying of an assessment upon every organized worker in the United States and Canada of not less than one-fourth of his net earnings and upon every officer of organized labor not less than fifty per cent of his salary until the objects of this drive be accomplished."

Trouble in Convention
A lively discussion on the question of industrial unionism occupied the attention of the convention during the morning session and will be continued this afternoon. It was brought about by the introduction of a resolution calling a conference of kindred trades for the purpose of devising ways and means to amalgamate such trades and callings as can be industrialized at once.

"A peaceful revolution of the rank and file must take the movement out of the hands of the receivers as there will be no encouragement from the international office," G. T. Fraenkel, member of the Chicago Machinists' Union said.

His attack on the efficiency of the American Federation of Labor was immediately resented by another delegate and from then on, a hot battle ensued. The fight was still on when the convention adjourned at noon, and indications were for its continuance during most of the afternoon.

Speakers on both sides received much applause from delegates, but there was no indication as to whether the resolution would get enough support to carry it.

The convention voted to send a telegram to a Chicago newspaper asking that a retraction be made of the article the newspaper published in which Col. Mages, commander of the United States soldiers at Gary, Ind., was quoted as stating that he steel strike was instigated by Reds. This action was taken following a message from Col. Mages repudiating the quotation.

COMING DECISION WILL BE THE FIRST

Judge O. E. Heard, presiding in the Lee County Circuit Court, will be called upon to place judicial construction on what constitutes transportation of intoxicating liquors under the Search and Seizure law passed by the last General Assembly. The cases of the people vs. Buchanan and May, two men who have been indicted by the Lee county grand jury for "transporting" liquor, will be called before the judge, and his decision will be the first in the state by a court of record.

State's Attorney Edwards, who will prosecute the cases, will endeavor to secure the assistance of Assistant Attorney General George C. Dixon of this city, who is in charge of the Attorney General's machinery to enforce the liquor law, and who recently submitted an opinion in the matter to the local state's attorney.

SCHICK FARM HOUSE BURGLARIZED WED.

The farm residence of Edward Schick near the North-Western viaduct on the Chicago road was ransacked by a sneak thief Wednesday afternoon while the family was away, and a hasty inventory taken by Mr. Schick last evening disclosed the loss of about $50 in cash, a gold ring and a revolver. The burglary was reported to Sheriff Schoenholtz and investigation by his office force disclosed the fact that section men working near the Schick home had seen a young stranger about there in the afternoon, and it is believed he is the fellow who committed the theft. He was last seen going south through a cornfield south of the house.

To the officials the section men stated that the fellow was apparently between 20 and 25 years of age, was tall and broad shouldered and walked decidedly pigeon-toed. He was dressed in a dark suit, cap and dark tan shoes.

TO ARGUE MANDAMUS CASE TOMORROW A. M.

Argument of the petition of the City of Dixon for an order of mandamus from the Circuit Court compelling Lee County to proceed with advertising for proposals for repairing the Galena avenue bridge, which case was taken up before Judge O. E. Heard in the Circuit court yesterday, will be made tomorrow. The attorneys for the city were yesterday given leave to amend their petition.

Attorney William Leach, of Amboy, was a professional visitor in the county seat this morning.

RAIL WORKERS WILL DEMAND HIGHER WAGE BEFORE ROADS REVERT

Timothy Shea Indicates Probable Action of Brotherhoods.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 23.—Indications that railroad employees will demand granting of their demands for increased wages, time and a half for overtime, the eight hour day and changes in working conditions before the railroads of the country are turned back by the government to private control is contained in testimony by Timothy Shea, chief of the Firemen's Brotherhood, before the railroad administration's board of railway and working conditions.

Mr. Shea told the board during its hearing of the firemen's demands, according to the testimony published today, that to members of his brotherhood was due an increase in wages, which, he said, "if I cannot get it out of this conference, it may be necessary to use other means, but I am going to get it."

In another portion of Mr. Shea's testimony, he is quoted as declaring that if the firemen's demands for a living wage should not be met when the time approaches, for the turning back the railroads to their private owners the workers shall demand as a condition precedent to the return the granting of those demands.

Although Mr. Shea appeared before the board only in behalf of the firemen, it is generally considered that to increase the wages of the firemen would necessitate a similar increase to all railroad workers and any action taken by the firemen to enforce their wage demands would involve similar action by the other brotherhoods.

When Mr. Shea told the board he did not think it possible for working people to curtail expenditures any more, W. F. Morse, who was general manager of a railroad before becoming a member of the board, asked:

"Do you represent any men who are buying automobiles and those things?"

"I do not hear," the witness responded, "of any firemen buying automobiles."

"You would not regard an automobile as a necessity, would you?" Morse again queried.

"Yes, I would," was Shea's answer.

"Well, I have denied myself a necessity all my life," Mr. Morse retorted.

"I think we have reached a period of our life when the laboring men must enjoy some of the necessities and luxuries of life," Shea continued. "I do not think the time is at hand when the American working man should be required to make any great sacrifices now. They have made their sacrifices."

ROOSEVELT FUND MEETS GENEROUS RESPONSE IN ILL.

Campaign is Successfully Under Way All Over State.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's wish that no pressure be brought to bear upon those solicited for contributions to the Roosevelt memorial fund but that every cash donation be in the nature of a "free-will offering" is working out satisfactorily, throughout the state, and is also demonstrating the fact that there is a general desire on the part of the public to contribute to the fund. These points were brought out in a statement from Ralph C. Kent, state director of campaign, who said:

"Reports from Chicago and almost every section of the state indicate that the campaign for contributions to the Roosevelt Memorial fund is successfully under way and presaged a satisfactory outcome in the matter of raising $750,000 in Illinois by the night of October 27, which is Roosevelt's birthday anniversary, Americanization day in Illinois by proclamation of Governor Lowden and the close of the campaign. One thing that pleases us is the wide distribution shown in the giving, manifesting the great interest there is in the memorial proposition and how beloved was Theodore Roosevelt of the masses."

One of the definite objects decided upon in the way of a memorial to Roosevelt was the establishment of a Roosevelt Society or Foundation, to carry on Col. Roosevelt's spirit of Americanization, and to perpetuate and keep alive the uncompromising patriotism of which he was so essentially the exponent.

DIXON HORSES TO RACE AT STERLING

Dixon horsemen are showing interest in the last race matinee of the season at the Mineral Springs track at Sterling Saturday afternoon, and since several Dixon speeders have been entered in the events it is probable a number of the followers of the sport of kings will attend the event. The program will start at 1:30 o'clock it is announced.

PETAINE REVEALS DETAILS OF THE VERDUN BATTLE

Defender of Paris Es- corts King Alfonso Over Ground.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Verdun, France, Oct. 22.—Over the historic battlefield of Verdun, King Alfonso of Spain walked today with Marshal Petain, the chief defender of the citadel during the tremendous struggle fought in February and March 1916.

Along roads lined by thousands of white crosses marking the graves of warriors who fell and through subterranean passageways where the defenders were marshaled preparatory to counter-attacking the foe, the king walked. As he went he plied his distinguished guide with questions.

Upon his arrival at Verdun King Alfonso at once proceeded to the military cemetery where he deposited a wreath of orchids tied with ribbons forming the Spanish colors, upon which was painted a tribute from the royal visitor.

Verdun No Surprise
France was not surprised by the German offensive against Verdun, Marshal Petain told the king during their walk over the field. The latter expressed surprise when given this information, as it has been generally believed the Germans attacked almost without warning.

"We knew of the enemy's plan," said the Marshal. "Six weeks before, we had received our first information from learning of the construction of a formidable system of railroads leading to Verdun."

Two Divisions Held Five
"As proof that we were not surprised, I may say we sent for the twentieth corps, which reached Verdun February 25. It did not fall from heaven. However, the fact remains that when the battle of Verdun began we had on the right bank of the Meuse only two divisions opposing five German army corps. These two divisions held their positions for five days."

"February 25 was the most critical day of the battle. The enemy by sacrificing his best troops had succeeded in capturing Fort Douaumont the day before and the situation was grave. On February 25 the troops which had been occupying the Woerth sector to the east of Verdun were ordered to fall back to the heights of the Meuse. The order was criticized then but its wisdom was later recognized."

Ordered Ground Held
"Since I had received an order from Great Headquarters to establish contact with Gen. Castelnau's division which had been defending Fort Louaumont and now was falling back on Verdun, I (Continued from page one.)

RAIL OFFICIALS IN VISIT ON WEDNESDAY

A special train, carrying federal and Illinois Central railroad officials, passed through Dixon on the Central Wednesday afternoon, and the visitors spent about an hour here, checking up the cars in the local yards. The shortage of coal cars for moving all mined coal from the mines and of box cars for moving the grain crop has become so serious that officials have found it necessary to adopt unusual measures to get cars unloaded and returned as quickly as possible, consequently the four of these officers aboard the special train were: C. M. Kittle, federal manager; L. A. Down, general superintendent; J. L. Deast, superintendent of freight traffic; W. S. Williams, general superintendent; J. F. Dignan, superintendent and M. E. Flanagan, train master.

DIXON Y. M. C. A. MEN TO STERLING MEETING

General Secretary Der Kinderen, Physical Director Kuhn and Boys' Secretary Elmer E. Rice of the Dixon Y. M. C. A. will go to Sterling tomorrow to confer with the officials of the Sterling association regarding the inter-association activities this winter, and also to hold a general discussion of things that may result for the benefit of the association work in general. Each of the local officials is on the program for a paper on plans for their departments during the coming winter, and Secretary Der Kinderen will close the program with a general summary of association work.

MORE ARTISTS FOR FOLLIES ANNOUNCED

Slowly, as is the case with all good things, the names of the Dixon artists who are to participate in the Dixon Follies, which will be given next week under the auspices of Dixon Lodge L. O. O. Moose, are being announced. Today the director states that vamp parts will be taken by Marcelle Kent, Goldie Higgins, Monona Sorensen, Frances Busby, Anna Holm and Vivian McFayre. It is also stated that Miss Grace Tidball and A. M. Rawls will be soloists during the evening's entertainment, and that the Kelly sisters will take part.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETS THIS EVENING

A very important meeting of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, will be held at the city hall this evening, and it is probable that at this meeting plans for perfecting a permanent organization will be discussed. Everett Dutcher will report on the state convention, at which a permanent state organization was effected, and he will also present the constitution and by-laws adopted at that convention.

COAL STRIKE IS DUE TO START SATURDAY; SETTLEMENT REFUSED

Mine Workers' Union Re- ject Settlement Propos- als By Government.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The United Mine Workers of America today formally rejected the proposal by Secretary Wilson for settlement of the coal strike called for November 1.

John L. Lewis, president of the miners' organization announced that the proposal was indefinite, inadequate and failed to meet the situation. He added that he would report to the joint conference this afternoon.

PREPARE FOR STRIKE

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 23.—Secretary Wilson's proposal for settlement of the coal strike will be rejected by the miners, officers of the United Mine Workers of America announced today on their way to a meeting called to formulate an answer. This was taken to mean that the joint conference with operators this afternoon would end abruptly unless the secretary was prepared to submit a new proposition.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, reiterated that the union would consider no offer of settlement that failed to grant the demand by the miners for a five day week.

Members of the miners' committee said they would attend the conference at 2 o'clock, as they had been asked to do by Secretary Wilson, but that if no new offer of settlement was made they would start immediately for their homes and make ready for the strike called for November 1.

ANOTHER CITY IS LOST TO RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK ARMY

German Regiment Bolts —Typhus is Raging in Russia.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Oct. 23.—Krasnaia Gorka, a fortified city on the southern shore of the Gulf of Finland, about thirty miles west of Petrograd, has been taken by anti-bolshevik troops, according to Helsinki advices.

South and southwest of Petrograd the northwestern Russian army seems to be making slow progress. Advances received however, would indicate a slight advance by Gen. Yudenich during the last few days, it being said a severe struggle is in progress six and one-half miles south of the city. Soviet forces are reported to have arrived at Petrograd from Moscow and to be engaged in the battle.

Gen. Denikin has again defeated the bolsheviks in the Volga region, having driven the soviet forces back near Kamyshev, north of Tzaritsyn according to a wireless message received from the Denikin headquarters.

The soviet government on the other hand claims to have broken in the apex of the great wedge driven northward toward Moscow by the Denikin army, the villages of Slevsk and Kromy having been taken. It is said that the Denikin Cossacks are being pursued southward in this region.

REGIMENT GOES OVER

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Berlin, Wednesday, Oct. 22.—Emulating the Angerburg Jaegers who early in October forced their way across the Prussian frontier and joined their division in Latvia, an infantry regiment stationed at Thorn to guard the German-Polish frontier, has carried out a similar coup, according to the Freiheit. The men are said to have complete winter equipment.

TYPHUS IS RAGING

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 23.—Typhus is widespread among the refugees and peasants in the villages near the trans-Siberian Railway according to a despatch to the State Department from Dr. Teusler in charge of American Red Cross work in Siberia. Dr. Teusler appealed for aid saying the Red Cross stores were running very low and that the people had practically no resources with which to meet their needs.

STERLING TEAM WILL PLAY HERE SUNDAY

The football team of St. Mary's high school, Sterling, which defeated Dixon Eagles 7 to 6 at Sterling last Sunday, will play a return game here the coming Sunday, the contest to be played at the Dixon Country Club grounds, and the local players hope to reverse the tables. The Eagles' line has been strengthened and the team is confident of victory. The local organization is aiming to be the best 115-pound team in the northern part of the state and they wish games with any teams of that average weight.

WHITESIDE COUNTY CONVICT A FUGITIVE

Charles Rudisell, who was sent to the penitentiary at Joliet from Whiteside county in April, 1915, after having been convicted of forgery, was one of three prisoners who walked away from the prison honor farm at Joliet yesterday. The other two fugitives were from Cook county, and at last reports from the prison city the convicts were still at large.

William Shaw, of Amboy, was a visitor in Dixon today.

What Would You Do?

If a child came to you hungry and pleading for bread would you turn away and refuse aid? If you saw feeble old men and women without homes and insufficiently clothed and nourished would you pass on leaving them to die of hunger and exposure?

If you were cast among human beings who were sick and stricken with disease would you go your way without ministering to them? No you would not.

If these distressed and suffering people were at your door you would help in every way. Your heart would go out to them. While they are not at your door they are calling to you. You are the only one to whom they can look to for relief. Will you listen to their pleading, will you answer their call? If you will you will contribute to the Jewish Relief Campaign fund which will be taken up during the week beginning, October 26th.

YOUNG PRISONERS IN CONFESSION WED.

Rockford Youths in Lee Co. Jail Tell of Their Past Records.

Confronted by his sister, Mrs. J. J. Flaherty, of Rockford, at the Lee county jail yesterday afternoon, Robert Loftus, who was arrested with Clifford Henry a week ago last Sunday night for the theft of Miss Josephine Morrissey's suitcase from an automobile, near the Episcopal church, confessed to the charge; and he incidentally gave Sheriff Schoenholtz some lights on his past life, according to the officials.

When a special delivery letter was received at the county jail yesterday morning addressed to Robert Loftus neither of the young prisoners, who gave assumed names at the time of their arrest, admitted to that name. But when the sister, by whom it developed the letter had been written, arrived both young fellows dropped their pretense and acknowledged their true names as unearthed by the sheriff.

When Loftus was told by his sister that his wife had submitted to an operation for appendicitis last week, but that she still loved him and urged him to serve his time for the escape, he is now in and then return and be a man his sangfroid vanished. The officers say, and he told his story. He confessed to the theft for which he was arrested here, the authorities say, and stated that he and Henry have recently completed a two-year term in the Minnesota reformatory for a similar crime. He also acknowledged being wanted at Belvidere for jumping a board bill, the result of his staying there a week with a woman. Henry, it is said, is also married, his wife residing in Freeport.

The boys are under bonds to appear before the January grand jury under charges of larceny, and Loftus, who gave Murphy as his name at the time of his arrest, is also said by the officers to have planned an attempt at jail delivery, to further which he wrote to his sister at Rockford asking her to send him some saws.

DIXON HIGH TO MEET STERLING SATURDAY

The most important game of the season thus far, as far as the interests of the pupils of the Dixon schools are concerned, will be played Saturday afternoon when Coach Vazina's players go to Sterling to meet the Sterling high school team in the first of two games scheduled between these teams. The return game will be played in Dixon at a later date. Information from Sterling indicates that the team which is representing the township high school there is about the same weight as the Dixon organization, therefore the boys from this city expect a hot and close contest. A large number of the students of the Dixon schools are arranging to accompany the team to Sterling to encourage them in the contest, which will be played at the west end ball park in that city.

INDUSTRY PARLEY LIMPING AHEAD, WITH LABOR OUT

Wilson Asks Capital and Public Groups to Continue.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 23.—Out of the week of the national industrial conference, President Wilson today sought to build new machinery to bring about industrial peace in the country. In a message to Chairman Lane he asked that the public representatives in the conference continue their work and make a report to him.

It is the hope of the president and other administration officials that the public delegates, who were appointed by Mr. Wilson and who represent both employers and workers, can formulate a program which will be acceptable to capital and labor.

After announcing that he had received President Wilson's message, Chairman Lane declared the national industrial conference as originally constituted adjourned and immediately called the members of the public group into session as a new conference.

WILSON ASKS CONTINUANCE

Washington, Oct. 23.—From his sickbed in the White House, President Wilson today dictated another letter to the national industrial conference. He was said to have urged that the conference proceed without representatives of labor in a final effort to frame some program looking to the re-establishment of industrial peace.

Department of Labor officials were said to favor further action on the part of the public representatives, in the hope that a program originating with that group would be acceptable to labor.

"Deliberations Useless."—Gompers

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a formal statement today, reiterated that unless the employers' group in the conference agreed to the declaration that the workers without discrimination had the right to organize it was worse than useless for labor's representatives to continue the deliberations.

"We have withdrawn," said Mr. Gompers, "and until the conditions are changed, of course, we have withdrawn and that ends it as far as we are concerned. We are not jumping jack. We are not only men responsible as citizens, but responsible to millions of workers."

"The representatives of the public group, largely employers and people who have been antagonistic to the labor cause and labor movement, voted in favor of our declaration."

"Information has come to me that the employers' group, in their conference, voted against the declaration by a majority of one. I am quite convinced that those employers in that group who voted against the declaration are unrepresentative of the intelligent, fair-minded employers of the country."

PROSPECT IS GLOOMY

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 23.—Dissolution of the National Industrial Conference today as the result of the withdrawal of organized labor's representatives today seemed certain.

Chairman Lane still was hopeful that President Wilson would be able to find some way out, but in the absence of any word from the president, leaders of both the public and capital groups were useless.

"You cannot play Hamlet without Hamlet," said Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the committee of Fifteen. He added that he planned to recommend to the public group of which he is a (Continued from page one.)

TAKE EVIDENCE IN CLAIM DECEASED ITALIAN LABORER

Before an investigator of the State Industrial Board, sitting in the County Court room here this afternoon, testimony was taken to determine the amount of compensation due Geomaria Occhini, the Italian boy who, while employed by J. M. Egan, Jr., on the Ashton sewer job, suffered injuries which caused his death after many months of suffering at the Lee County Infirmary. Because of a dispute concerning the amount to which the deceased's estate is entitled George W. Hill, Public Administrator for Lee county, instituted proceedings before the board against Mr. Egan and the case was called for hearing this afternoon.

It will be remembered that "Jerry" as he was commonly known, suffered a broken back through the premature explosion of dynamite while working on the Ashton sewer on March 9, 1917, and that from that time until his death late this summer he was paralyzed. He has no relatives in this county and during his invalid period he was a constant care at the Lee county infirmary. Efforts to effect a settlement made by Mr. Egan were constantly repulsed by Jerry, and he died with no agreement having been reached. Part of the sum secured in settlement will be needed to offset claims for care incurred at the Lincoln hospital in Rochelle and at the Lee County Infirmary.

NEW REGULATIONS IN MAKING SHIPMENT BY EXPRESS ANNOUNCED

Company Will Refuse All Packages Which Do Not Meet Them.

Steps were taken today by Agent G. A. Ward in charge of the city express office, to prepare for the new express packing requirements, which go into effect on Dec. 10. He has been advising express shippers to study the new rules which have been approved by the United States Railroad Administration so that they may be able to adjust their packing methods to the forthcoming new standards.

Under the new regulations, which are embodied in what is known technically as Supplement No. 5 to Express Classification No. 26, all shipments sent by express weighing over 25 pounds must be packed in wooden containers or cartons of fibre-board, pulpboard, or corrugated strawboard material, or specified "test strengths." This means that after December 10, packages over the 25-pound limit will not be accepted for forwarding by the American Railway Express Company, handling the express business of the entire country as Agent of the Railway Administration, if only paper wrapped. Nor will ordinary paper boxes, wrapped or unwrapped, be accepted as suitable protection for these heavier shipments. The regulations, however, do not affect shipments under 25 pounds.

Regular shippers will not be mystified by the new regulations, as they follow very closely the packing requirements long in vogue in the freight service. The express regulations, however, allow a little more latitude in the size of the carton used. The enforcement of the new rules was postponed until December 10, so that shippers would have plenty of time to prepare their selves for this change in express packing standards.

Agent Ward expressed the opinion that these new rules will not work any hardship on shippers, but should operate distinctly in their interest, as the rules will provide additional safeguards for merchandise in transit. Moreover, they will establish a uniformity of express packing rules which heretofore has been lacking. The new order does not affect the movement of food products by express, which are ordinarily shipped in crates or barrels.

"We believe," he stated, in explaining the new regulations, "that the shipping public will welcome the new standards when they understand them, and the reasons for putting them into effect."

"Never before in the history of the country has the express traffic reached such proportions as it has assumed today. At the same time there has been comparatively little increase in the amount of car space available for this business. We have been asked to carry heavier shipments and commodities of every conceivable kind."

"Before the war, it was possible for our messengers to spread their freight out on the floors of the express cars without much congestion. Today we are running dozens of through cars between the big cities and everyone of those cars is packed to capacity. There has been a similar congestion in the local runs."

"This has made it necessary for express shipments to be stacked. As a result, individual shipments have had to be strongly enough packed to be able to stand up for themselves, and owing to the lack of uniformity in this regard the new regulations were formulated and finally approved by the Railroad Administration. The stronger containers required, we believe, will very perceptibly help to improve the express service and to protect the miscellaneous articles of merchandise through this channel from damage or interference enroute."

An extensive educational campaign is planned to explain to express shippers how the new requirements will operate in the various trades which depend upon the express service for the movement of the bulk of their output and also to instruct express employees regarding acceptance of matter for shipment under the new standards.

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obsolete Cause of Piles in Few Days.

For years it has been proved that so called external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cannot cure piles, and at the best can only give temporary relief. Surgical operations also do not remove this cause, but simply the formation.

This wonderful prescription, known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent cause of piles is absorbed, never to return.

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it's worth the little trouble to obtain it to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. "If your druggists cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above mail charges prepaid on receipt of price. Internal Treatment $1.50 War Tax 6c. Ointment 50c War Tax 2c extra. WAGE $1 A YEAR; INTEREST RATE ON LOANS 75 PERCENT

O. O. Stanchfield of New York addressed the local Y. M. C. A. Men's club meeting Tuesday night at the first regular banquet for the season. He spoke on the work done in rural India by the Y. M. C. A. It was a description of the work done by what corresponds to our own County Y. M. C. A. The speaker had been in county Y work in Michigan and was sent to India to apply that work to the rural communities. Upon investigating conditions in the Telugu district they found that the average small farmer would have housed in one small building his entire family, a team of water buffaloes, his work team, a cow and calf, some goats and a dozen or so chickens. At night time the doors of the house were all closed tightly because the night air which was dangerous must be kept out. In the morning the farmer goes to plow in his field with his wooden single handled plow like the one that was in use at the time of Christ. Into such primitive conditions came the Y and after a study of the field decided that the first step would be the organization of a bank, because most of the farmers were in debt to the Mohammedan money lenders who charged a man 75% per year interest on loans. In a country where a man's wage was from $1.00 to $1.50 per month and that of a woman one-half that, once the victim got into debt it was impossible to get out of the clutches of the Shylock. Most of the men had gotten into debt by borrowing in order to pay the dowry to the daughter's husband and provide for the tresspass and wedding feast. This total expense would equal about $1.00 American money. To get the farmers out of this financial predicament there was organized a strong central bank with branches in the villages. These would lend money at the rate of 7 1/2% per year. Before a bank was started in a village they would call together the residents thereof and lay down four conditions to be met. First, sign the pledge not to drink booze, because a drinker was not a good risk. Second, must send boys and girls to mission school or to Y. M. C. A. school. Third, clean up the town to make it sanitary and fourth all men must go to school four nights per week. The community starting on that program was soon out of debt and then could buy better plows, tested seed and prospered accordingly. Deputations of citizens came from nearby districts to get the Y. M. C. A. to start in their towns. To date some 150 banks have been started this way to the tremendous improvement of the communities. It is expected that that number will be multiplied by 10 in the next 5 years. National leaders in China assert that this same thing will prove of incalculable benefit in China as it has in India. The Russian rural conditions being very similar this method of work will surely be adopted to meet and improve rural conditions in that war torn land.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

By JANE PHELPS.

A BOMB. CHAPTER CVI.

"Did you call Miss Grandon?" I said to Hetty. It was the last night of Rose's stay and we were dining alone. We had been very gay, had had something on nearly every evening. My dinner for her had been a great success, and Everett had complimented me because of it.

I had given two afternoons, and Everett had taken us to the theater three or four times. Alice Sloane also had entertained for Rose, and Irma Barton had given an afternoon bridge. I felt that the report Rose would take back home with her would be very different from the one she took after her first visit.

Yes, Mrs. Graham. I rapped and announced dinner. "Perhaps she was lying down and didn't hear you. Go up again." "Miss Grandon is not in her room," Hetty declared a moment later. "She must be!" I returned. "I should have known if she were out." Then all suddenly Walter Kemp came into my mind. Had she stolen out to be with him? "If you'll excuse me a moment I will run up," I said to Everett. And without waiting for an answer I almost flew upstairs.

I had been talking to Rose about half an hour before. We had separated to dress for dinner. She was not in her room, neither was there anything to show where she had gone. After a moment I went slowly back downstairs, dreading Everett's questions.

"She's not there. I can't imagine where she has gone."

"We'll have dinner. She'll probably turn up in a few moments."

But altho we carried over each course, we finished dinner and still she had not come.

"You don't suppose anything has happened to her?" I asked Everett, loath to believe she would go to meet Walter Kemp at night when she knew her absence would be known to Everett. "She might have slipped out to post a letter or something."

"No, she has met someone and been detained. Don't worry about her. It is only 8 o'clock, and scarcely dark."

She wouldn't be at Alice Sloane's, would she?"

"No—I don't think so—we made our party call yesterday. I'll call up how-ever and ask, if you think best."

Before Everett could answer the door bell rang. James brought a message for me.

"The boy said there was no answer."

"Probably from Miss Grandon," Everett said. "Why don't you open it, Sandra?"

My hands trembled as I did his bidding.

"Walter Kemp and I were married an hour ago. We leave on midnight train for Chicago. Will wire address so you can send my trunk. Love, Rose."

Without a word I gave the note to Everett.

"Walter Kemp! Where did she get acquainted with him? Have you disobeyed me and entertained him while she has been your guest?"

"No, Everett, he hasn't been in the house since you told me not to receive him."

"Then how did she meet him?" he spoke impatiently. "We are responsible for her to a certain extent. She was our guest."

"We met him one day when we were shopping. He stopped to speak, and of course I had to introduce him. Then one day we were having soda and he joined us. I have not seen him again."

"She would scarcely run away and marry a man she had seen but twice. Has she met him without you?"

"Yes, Everett. I suppose I should have told you, but I felt it was none of my business, in a way. She had tea with him once or twice, and lunched with him."

"I am amazed that, knowing my opinion of the man—his reputation—you did not tell me at once. Her people will blame us if she is unhappy—which she will be. I am afraid."

"Oh, I hope not! And Everett, I don't think they will blame us. Rose is fair, and she is truthful. She will tell her folks just how it happened. I will write mother all about it, also. She is Mrs. Grandon's closest friend and will be sure to tell her what I say."

"It is done now, and we cannot do anything. But, Sandra, I am disappointed that you had not enough confidence in my judgment to let me know what was going on."

DUFFY-FANE WEDDING

At the Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago on Wednesday afternoon the marriage of Miss Erin Helen Fane, of this city, to Edward Pius Duffy, took place. Rev. Fr. Kearns officiated at the ceremony, reading the service at 4 o'clock before a company of relatives and friends.

Miss Eleanor Durkin, of Chicago, served in the capacity of maid of honor and Francis L. Murphy was best man to Mr. Duffy.

The bride wore her traveling suit of brown silvertone, trimmed with nutria. Hat and other costume accessories were in the same shade. Brides' roses worn as a corsage bouquet. Miss Durkin's suit was of blue tricot with gold braid trimming. A blue picture hat was worn. Her flowers were tea roses, also worn as a corsage bouquet.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Duffy, gave a four-course dinner at her home for the wedding party and guests after the ceremony. Twenty-five guests were present.

The happy couple left after the dinner on their wedding trip, the destination of which they did not announce. They will be at home after November 10th at 1423 North LaSalle street, Chicago.

Mr. Duffy is assistant manager of the Sandusky Sand and Gravel Co. in Chicago and his bride has been with the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago. Dixon has been her home until the past year or so and the best wishes of her friends here are legion.

TO CHICAGO WEDDING

The Misses Agnes and Bess Fane went to Chicago Wednesday to attend the wedding of their sister, Miss Erin Fane, to Edward Duffy, which took place there at 4 o'clock that afternoon. Mrs. Otto Peters, another sister of the bride, went to the city Sunday and was also present at the wedding.

CHRISTENING

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harden, of Humboldt, S. D., was christened at the home of his grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Harden, of Nelson on Sunday. The little lad, five months old, was given the name, Earl Edwin. Rev. S. A. MORE POWER AT LESS COST.

The mining, transportation and burning of coal to produce the power that drives the industries of America has resulted, thus far, in incalculable extravagance.The people who buy the finished products pay for the extravagance.During the war the government became alarmed over the shortage of power and a series of power investigations were ordered. The result showed that a tremendous amount of power is going to waste.Why should millions of tons of coal be shipped from the mines and be burned in cities hundreds of miles distant to produce power when the entire cost of transportation could be cut out by burning the coal at the mines, converting the energy into electricity, then sending the power over the wires to industrial centers? The original cost of power lines must be considered, of course, but that item is, in the long run, but a drop in the bucket compared with the constant cost of freighting coal.The people who buy the finished products pay the freight.Enormous power is going to waste in the rivers and mountain torrents of the land, and it is the cheapest power obtainable. One little river in California—it would be called a creek in the East—develops half a million horse power in the course of thirty miles, using only three plants.Practically all the people wear, and much that they eat, comes in finished state through some mill or factory.The people are paying dearly for the failure to develop power.If the next congress does not move energetically to put an end to the waste of power the people should rise up and call it—unblessed.

THIS WILL PLEASE CHADWICK.

A story is being told about the court house to the effect that a certain young court reporter, who recently made the Line o' Type in the Chicago Tribune as being the "ears of the press," wears such pretty shirts that they are the objects of constant adoration on the part of the young ladies at the county's temple. Of course these shirts are not loud enough to be heard, but it is reported that one day this week when unusual noises were heard coming from the reporter's room the court house attaches were mystified, knowing that the young man was not in the building, and they immediately opined that the shirts must be engaged in mollifying their effect on humanity. However, it is said, investigation showed that the noise was merely the enraptured expressions of two of the young ladies, as they contemplated how they would appear in shirtwaists of the same material.U. S. IS TRIMMED met Gen. Castelnau at Souilly. All he said was "charge of the army." Thus on the evening of Feb. 26, I assumed command. I distributed the commands among Generals Guillaumat, Duchesne and De Balfourier ordered that not an other inch of ground be given up and that the defenders should reply to every attack by a counter offensive."During the eight days that followed the village of Douaumont changed hands ten times, but the Germans held the fort.""I understand now," said King Alfonso, "why during those hours we knew nothing of what was going on here.""At last on March 4," Marshal Petain resumed, "the village was definitely ours and on March 6 when the Germans attacked on the left bank of the Meuse

I was ready to receive them. It had always appeared strange to me that an attack had not been launched on the left side of the river and everything was prepared in view of such an assault. It was because the enemy deferred that attack too long that we were able to restore the situation. That delay saved us.""Then came the gigantic struggle for Hill 304 and Dead Man's Hill. It was then I issued my order of the day
'Courage, we will get them.'"Marshal Petain then told the story of Gen. Mangin's offensive on May 22 by which Douaumont village was stormed, adding that the Germans put five new divisions into the line during the preceding fifteen days and from May 22 to June 23 hurled eight other divisions into the fight, only to gain but 500 yards.

Germans Shouted Victory

"The enemy after this fighting was shouting: Victory," said the Marshal distastefully.Gen. Mangin's offensive on Oct. 26 when Fort Douaumont was recaptured and the Germans forced to evacuate the village and fort of Vaux, with the loss of 11,000 prisoners was then described."At the end of 1916," the French chieftain concluded, "our situation was favorable on the right bank of the Meuse, but bad on the left. On August 20, 1917 however, our offensive on both banks of the Meuse brought us back to our original lines of February 1916, and on that day we gathered in everything we wished."Marshal Petain and King Alfonso walked out over what was once No Man's Land, and which now shows on signs of life."Sack Carriers" Feed Great Russian City

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Oct. 6.—Petrograd is virtually being fed by "sack carriers"—persons who bring in small amounts of edibles from outlying sections in violation of communist law. They are in constant danger but prices they obtain make the risks worth while.A report just made to the British foreign office by a secret agent in Petrograd gives interesting details of how the "sack carriers" work. A person goes from Petrograd to a nearby country district where notwithstanding reports to the contrary, there is food, and purchases as much as can be conveniently carried in a sack thrown over the shoulder.Every train in Russia is crowded and when the "sack carrier" boards one he finds hundreds of other persons—men and women—with their sacks of food trying to get into Petrograd. The more there are the greater his chances of getting into the city.Each train is met at the stations just outside the city by red guards. As the train draws into the station the "sack carriers" pile off in droves and every one scurries about to avoid the guards.
A certain number, of course, are caught but hundreds get through. They then slip along through back streets and alleys to avoid the communist police and troops until they reach the back gate or rear stairs of their customers to whom they sell the food at fabulous prices.Buy Your

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 23.—The plane driven by Lieut. Bagby, with Sergt.
Parrish as a passenger, in the transcontinental air race, was wrecked here this morning when the pilot started to hop off. Neither of the men was injured.Entry No. 38, piloted by Lieut. Gish, east bound, also was wrecked in landing. The pilot escaped injury. The Gish machine, it is believed, can be repaired, and continue the flight, but the plane of Lieut. Bagby is too badly smashed.

member, that a committee be named to formulate a report to the president and then have the group disperse.

May as Well Quit

Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the public group, said he considered that the conference virtually had ended when the labor delegates withdrew last night. The issue is now before the public, Mr. Baruch said, and public opinion alone can decide."Representatives of capital also were of the opinions that the sessions should not be prolonged. Delegates said the group would issue a statement defending its course in the conference and the principles for which it had contended."

Is Up to Wilson

Meantime President Wilson had under advisement the future fate of the conference. He had before him recommendations of Chairman Lane that the conference continue its sessions even though only the representatives of the public were present. Mr. Baruch and Mr. Chadbourne, however, did not agree with this recommendation and their views were made known to the president.

Blames Federation.

L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Railway Co., and a member of the capital group, declared in a formal statement that the action of organized labor in withdrawing from the conference and "the whole history of the conference preceding it made it perfectly clear:

"That if the American Federation of Labor can bring it about it will not be possible for any man to work in the United States unless he belongs to a trade organization within the American Federation of Labor."That it will not be possible for any men to associate themselves in work councils or other involuntary associations for the purpose of collective bargaining, it being the fixed intention of the American Federation of Labor to confine the relation between employers and employees to their organization.""What the American Federation of Labor could not endure," added Mr.

Loree, "was the discussion of machinery other than their own for securing the minimum of conflict," described in the president's letter to the conference."The public group later held an executive session and A. A. London of Buffa-

a willingness to respond to the president's appeal.BURGLARS RAID

GERMAN OPERA CREATES MORE RIOTS IN N. Y.

Legal Phases Are Being Argued in Court Today.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Oct. 23.—Argument on the legal merits of staging opera in German in this city—a procedure which his resulted in two riots in as many performances—came up today in supreme court.

The Star Opera Company, Inc., which succeeded in presenting two German masterpieces at the Lexington Theatre under police protection, was prepared to ask that a temporary injunction restraining city authorities from interfering with the opera be made permanent. The city, following an opinion expressed by Corporation Counsel Burr that German opera might legally be suppressed until after ratification of the peace treaty, was ready to argue against a permanent injunction.

The temporary injunction granted yesterday by supreme court Justice Bijur—backed by heavy police protection—afforded the opera an opportunity to continue last night. More than 200 mounted police and patrolmen were required to keep a crowd of former-service men and other civilians in check outside the theatre.

Shower Of Eggs.
The performance of "Czar and Carpenter" was enlivened at the end of the first act when a man in one of the boxes threw five eggs at the singers on the stage. None of the eggs reached a human target but the throwing created great excitement in the audience, many leaving the theatre. The egg thrower was arrested.

The rioting outside the theatre was more fierce than that which greeted the first performance Monday night. The police used clubs freely. A man in navy uniform was taken to a hospital in a serious condition, and a soldier suffered a broken hip. Others were cut and bruised when mounted police charged through the crowd to prevent it from approaching the theatre.

Another performance was promised for tonight.

MILK PRODUCERS TREATED "SCABS" ROUGH, REPORT

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 22.—Further testimony in support of the state's contention that intimidation and threats of violence were used by the Milk Producers' association to compel farmers to join the organization and carry out the orders of the leaders in the milk strike was introduced today at the trial of seven officials of the organization charged with conspiracy in arbitrarily fixing the price of milk in the Chicago district.

William Walbaum a farmer who lives near Elgin, Ill., testified that he was opposed to joining the Milk Producers' association, but after holding out for ten days he was compelled to sign an application for membership. He said his barn was plastered with posters calling him a "scab." The witness told of attending a meeting of the organization in Elgin, April 5, 1916 while the milk strike was in progress. When he protested against the methods of the organization he said the members threatened to throw him out of the window.

The witness identified several of the defendants as having attended the meeting at Elgin.

Walbaum said that at the Elgin meeting when he protested against the methods employed by the organization he was seized by several members and dragged to the platform.

"They pinned labels containing the word 'scab' on my coat and said if I did not sign up they would break my neck," said the witness. "Finally through fright I was compelled to sign up and go along with the organization."

BRITAIN TO OPEN GERMAN EMBASSY

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Wednesday, Oct. 22.—Announcement is made that the mission of Valford H. M. Selby to Berlin will be the re-opening of the British embassy and the re-establishment of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Germany. This will be followed by the appointment of a regular British Charge D'Affaires and the subsequent selection of an ambassador to Germany.

It has not been decided when Francis Oswald Lindley, British High Commissioner at Vienna, will assume his duties but it is believed he will go to the Austrian capital within a few days. The situation at Vienna is different than that at Berlin, where Great Britain plans to resume regular diplomatic relations. The appointment of Mr. Lindley as commissioner does not mean a resumption of regular relations, although he will have full powers to handle British affairs.

AMUSEMENTS

OIL LADY, LADY WAS FINE SHOW
Setting a new pace for "the road" in the matter of smartness, chic and general metropolitan dash and piquancy, "Oil Lady, Lady" held a big audience captive by its blithe story, its many surprises, its rollicking tunes and splendid comedy at the opera house last night.

The story is one which alone would challenge and hold the interest and delight of even the most fastidious audience. Plus Mr. Jerome Kern's gay and blithesome melodies it is a corking show which Messrs. Comstock and Elliott have produced with all the modish artistic and eye-filling richness which modern taste demands.

Pretty girls in stunning costumes make every scene a style show. And the settings are magical in their beauty, especially the roof garden, which is outlined against a sky of such translucent and shimmering blue as to give it quite thrilling loveliness.

Saw Balloon Wichita Take Its Fatal Dive

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—Captain Paul J. McCullough, of this city, who piloted one of the entries in the recent National Balloon race probably was the last man to see the ill-fated balloon Wichita, with Captain Carl W. Dammann and Lieut. Edward J. Verheyden in the basket before it plunged into Lake Huron and snuffed out the life of the two acrobats.

Captain McCullough, who has returned to St. Louis after an exciting experience both in the air and on land after he alighted, says that on Oct. 2 at 11:45 a. m. he saw the Wichita approaching Cape Hurd on Lake Huron. The balloon was descending rapidly from a height of 15,000 feet to avoid flying into a huge storm cloud.

"We were at a height of about 4,000 feet and were watching Dammann with our field glasses," said Capt. McCullough. "He was about half a mile north of us and his balloon appeared to have been leaking. Directly ahead of Dammann was a huge storm cloud. He appeared to be trying to avoid it. Below him were other clouds and he could not see the lake. We could see him through the lower clouds only because he was in the sun. At 11:45 a. m. just as we were rounding a corner of the storm cloud, which we avoided by taking a lower air current, we saw Dammann suddenly start to descend rapidly. He was partly in the storm cloud which would have caused sudden contraction of his gas, causing a quick descent.

"As he came down and into the other clouds our vision was obscured by a heavy mist and we did not see him again. That was between Cave Island and Cape Hurd and very probably was the time he fell to the lake."

Captain McCullough states that he then flew northeast to a point where he landed, 18 miles away from any habitation. Accompanied by his observer, Bernard von Hoffman, he started to find a village but it was not until nightfall that he became aware that he was in a wilderness.

According to Captain McCullough they had taken a little food with them from the balloon as they expected to reach some home or house before nightfall, but were forced to camp in the open and then ascertained that they had not brought matches. A storm came up and the two men attempted to sleep it out under one overcoat. The next day they traveled through underbrush and swamps, always being guided by compass. In late afternoon they came to a deserted hunter's cabin, but they found a boat in the small lake and reconnoitering in this they found the lake had an outlet into a small river. Returning to the cabin von Hoffman attempted to make a fire. By breaking the globe of his flashlight and pressing the button while holding a piece of paper to the wires, he obtained a flame and they built a fire.

They dried their clothes and slept and the next morning got in the boat and started out. But before they had gone far they heard a factory whistle, the sound coming from the opposite direction from that which they were taking. They paddled back and started inland and soon came to a lumber camp. There they employed men to accompany them back to the balloon and after a week's work, managed to get the big bag onto a train and headed toward St. Louis.

TEAMSTER STRIKE BROKEN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Oct. 23.—Members of the International Union of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers whose strike 10 days ago resulted in a complete tie-up in express service here, returned to work today.

Walker D. Hines, United States railroad director, had warned them that unless the strike was terminated he would send troops to New York to replace the strikers. He promised them that he would seek to have the wage adjustment board return a decision on their demands by Nov. 4.

Miss M. M. Winter returned Tuesday evening from a two days' business visit in Chicago.

Before him are Carolina Lazzari and Virgilio Lazzari, both leading members of the same company. When Ciccolini started singing with the New Edison, Virgilio exclaimed, "A duel! And they're alike as two peas. I wonder if I can tell them apart." Closing his eyes he listened attentively. Gradually Ciccolini sang more softly. Finally he ceased. "Why don't you stop?" inquired Lazzari a moment later. "So that I can tell the difference?" Ciccolini and Signorina Lazzari burst into laughter. Lazzari, the noted basso, even he had been utterly baffled. He could not distinguish artist from instrument.

FRANKLIN GROVE AFFAIRS

FRANKLIN GROVE MAN DISCOVERED MYSTERY
THEN LOST IT AGAIN

Ancient Rustler's Lair Discovered—Other News of Franklin.

(BY J. C. COOK)

There's a hole in the bottom of the sea," is the refrain to some old song. There's a hole in the ground somewhere in the woods surrounding Whipples' Cave which has been earnestly sought for during the past several days by adventurous and enterprising persons of this community. They have descended and ascended the Valley of Pines, crossed the turbulent stream of Franklin Creek, have passed over barren rocks, scaled cliffs, crawled thru barb wire fences, forced their way amid the tangled thickets in a vain and fruitless effort to locate this hole in the ground, which leads to mysterious depths beneath, to dark caverns, a gateway to romance, to mystery, perhaps to scenes of some dark tragedy, perhaps to hidden gold or treasure for who can tell what wealth may have been buried in these caverns of earth by desperate actors who long ago played their part in the drama of life amid the forgotten years.

The great valley of the Mississippi in its early settlement afforded many a setting for scenes of tragedy and crime. Its situation soon established its great commercial value and importance. Thru this wonderful valley flowed the longest and most remarkable river in the world, stretching four thousand miles north from the Gulf of Mexico, with its tributaries draining the Allegheny and Rocky Mountains. It afforded unequalled means to escape detection or pursuit and this invited as it were, countless criminals and bloodstained outlaws who found here a refuge and safety from human law. Organized bands, tramping upon right and defying all law and order, human or divine, roamed the country over. What more favorable spot could be found as a hiding place for these cut throats than in the forests and bluffs around Whipples' Cave and Steamboat Rock during the pioneer period?

It is said that in these caves just discovered there are strange lights and sounds and that in the furthest depths there may be heard the music of flowing waters rippling over the rocks on their way to the sea. These subterranean caverns were accidentally discovered one day last week by a citizen of Franklin Grove, who, in tramping thru the woods suddenly felt the ground give way beneath and falling several feet found himself sliding downward over loose dirt and leaves until at a considerable distance he landed on a rock bottom cave. From here he could hear the sound of running water and tossing a stone he heard its splash below. Having only a few matches he was unable to make many explorations but discovered there were several different apartments connected, in one of which he found many relics of departed days: saddles, mail bags, harness, boxes and household utensils, etc. In the utter darkness could be seen peculiar lights which glittered like millions of diamonds while strange unearthly sounds vibrated in the gloom. Having used his last match he sought the faint light which came from the opening above and by strenuous efforts reached the spot beneath it only to find that the opening was several feet beyond his reach. It was a fateful moment, as he realized the possibility of not being able to gain the entrance. After several attempts in jumping upwards he succeeded in getting hold of a vine which hung down thru the opening and by difficult and careful effort finally gained the ground above. After making his way home he secured a lantern and returned to the woods but after hours of search he was unable to locate the scene of his former adventure and though the entire woods has since been most thoroughly tramped over the hole has never been found.

The person who experienced this adventure is well known here, is considered absolutely reliable, not given to hallucinations, pipe dreams or mental wanderings. His general appearance when he reached home: a bruised arm and clothing covered with clay soil and dirt furnished corresponding evidence of his experience. In fact no one here doubts the sincerity of the person mentioned. But what became of the hole? Will it ever remain a mystery? Are these caverns the abiding place of the evil spirits of which we read, who dwell in darkness rather than light, who resent intrusion, and by some supernatural power have repaired the hole and closed it forever from human inspection?

CHANGE OF PASTORS

At the Methodist church Sunday evening Rev. Warren Hutchinson, the newly appointed minister for Franklin Grove assumed his duties as pastor for the coming conference year. His subject for the morning service was "The Master's Call for Men," and in the evening, "The Mightier One." Both sermons were interesting and pleasing. In his thought and manner of delivery, Rev. Hutchinson gives the impression of a kindly spirit, filled with love and sympathy for mankind and an earnest zeal for the cause for which he labors.

Being separated from the Ashton charge, and having a pastor all his own the Methodist church here in the future will have church service both morning and evening.

Two weeks ago, Sunday evening the Rev. Kerns gave a farewell address as the close of his labors in Franklin Grove and prior to his going to the annual conference in Chicago. The subject of his discourse was, "The Ascendancy of the Cross." He referred to St. Paul as one of the commanding figures of all the ages who towered above his fellows in the days of his ministry, even as Moses did at a much earlier period. St. Paul was not only a leader of twenty centuries ago but his great ability and his insight into the spiritual nature of man, his glowing words today as it did on Mars Hill. He sought to show the way to everlasting life, to establish the Kingdom of Love. His life a sacrifice to the great cause, he suffered persecutions and trials and died in the glorification of the cross. His work is still going on, and the cross, "Towering o'er the wrecks of time" is the beacon light to a sin-burdened world. Rev. Kerns also strongly emphasized the fact that the cross signifies sacrifice. It means labor and care for others, a giving of self, of money and time and consecrated effort. Without sacrifice there could be no reward. The way of the cross leads home, there is no other way.

At the close of his sermon Rev. Kerns gave a few kindly words of counsel to his church members; wholly in regard to their new pastor, whoever that might be and who would soon be among them; to receive him with open arms, to give him their full measure of encouragement, to stand back of him in all his work and to give him the evidence of their love and sympathy in a united effort to forward the cause, the single purpose of which should be the salvation of men. It was an impressive moment. It is always an impressive time when a pastor stands for the last time before his people to say, goodbye. The people with whom he has labored, for whom he has prayed and shared his joys and sorrows in some hour of human sorrow and bereavement has tried to comfort and has tendered his deepest sympathy as footsteps led down into the valley of shadows and grief and supreme in the heart.

At the request of his many friends at Ashton Rev. Kerns has been returned to that charge.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Franklin Grove Bank

Plans for the new Franklin Grove bank building are now fully in progress. One of the architects was recently here looking up requirements, consulting plans, etc. The new building will occupy the entire ground from the present corner to the M. V. Peterson building. It will be modern in every respect and afford every convenience for the accommodation of its customers. It will be a credit to its builders and to the Franklin Grove community.

In tracing the history of banking interests in Franklin Grove it is found that Conrad Durkes was the pioneer in this direction, who for a number of years furnished banking facilities for the community in an adjunct to his mercantile business. At other times other merchants—Henry Black, P. C. Rooney and possibly others did the same. Having retired from trade, Mr. Durkes in 1889 organized the "Franklin Grove Bank" with J. D. Lahman, president; C. Durkes, vice president; W. S. Durkes, cashier. The directors were: S. W. Reigle, Peter Breuninger, Wm. Henry Hansen, David Lahman and Wm. Crawford. The capital stock was $25,000. Deposits for the first year averaged about $20,000.

For over fifty years the name of Durkes has been associated with banking interests of Franklin Grove. For a period of over thirty years the Franklin Grove bank has occupied an important place in the financial interests of the community. From its first organization it has been officiated and controlled by men of the highest character and stands today a Gibraltar of strength and character in the financial world.

The Lahman House

The Ira Lahman house is progressing slowly but when completed will be a model of comfort and convenience. Mr.

Lahman has experienced the usual delay in getting material and labor.

Willis Reigle

The remodeling of the house recently moved onto a lot on the east part of block 15 by Willis Reigle is now nearly finished and will soon be occupied by the Reigle family. The house will be modern in every respect. A bright, well ventilated basement affords ample space for fuel, laundry and heating plant. Septic tanks and sewer pipes afford a complete system of drainage. Hot and cold water will be supplied to kitchen and bath room by electric automatic pump. A good sized sleeping porch on the north side will be fully appreciated during the summer months.

Farmers' Elevator Company

The Farmers' Elevator company will soon have completed and in operation two mammoth tanks for coal. These towers, built of cement reinforced will be 61 feet from the ground and have a capacity of 700 tons of coal. They will contain four different bins or apartments each. On the top will be the engine room in which are placed the electric motors. These will furnish power for operating the elevators in conveying coal from the dumping pit reaching the top of the towers the coal is delivered onto a series of inclines and will gradually slide to its place in the bins. It is estimated that 75 per cent less of the coal will be broken up than when delivered by the old methods, and by reducing cost of handling will result in a saving to customers.

J. J. Thome, of Ashton, the accomplished workman in lathing and in the rapidity of his movements, is busy every day, and in demand from many different places. His present engagements will fully occupy his time for several weeks ahead.

Mr. Herbst is progressing nicely with his new house having it now all enclosed and the work going along rapidly. When completed it will be a handsome, commodious modern home, situated on a prominent corner.

Walter Trottnow has his new home now nearly finished. A neat cozy residence and ample room for the entire family. The location is central and very convenient to the business portion of the town, churches, schools, theaters, library and post office.

FRESH SETBACK FOR CORN TODAY CAUSED BY NEWS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 23.—Corn underwent a fresh setback in value today largely as a result of new downturns in the price of hogs. Selling was induced also by the weakness of stocks and by the bolt of the labor delegates from the industrial conference at Washington. Considerable notice too was taken of the unpromising outlook regarding the threatened strike of coal miners. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4¢ off to 1/4¢ up, with December at 1.24 1/4 to 1.24 1/2 and May at 1.22 1/4 to 1.23, were followed by a material decline all around, and then something of a reaction.

Oats weakened with corn. After opening 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ down, including December at 71 1/4 to 71 3/4, the market continued to sag.

Provisions parted company with the hog market, and rallied after an initial downturn. In the last part of the day, rallies were checked after the mine workers had refused Secretary Wilson's strike settlement proposal and after the industrial conference as originally constituted had quit. The market closed nervous, 1/4¢ lower to 1/4¢ advance, with December at 1.24 1/4 to 1.24 1/2 and May at 1.22 1/4 to 1.23 1/2.

IN A RURAL COMEDY

"ALMOST A HUSBAND"

It's the funniest complication you ever saw. Don't miss this happy, snappy picture; it's the most enjoyable in many months. Topics of the Day, News, Stars as They Are. A fellow asked us the other day if we had "a good show on"?—he was a stranger in town.

TOMORROW—Enid Bennett in "A Desert Wooing." Vaudeville. Sunshine comedy and other pictures.

Saturday and Sunday three shows: First, 6:30; second, 8:00; third, 9:30. Other nights, 7:15 and 9:00. Matinee daily, except Sunday and Monday
